My sister and I sat in a little cove overlooking the wonderful house built on the rocks. I loved the strength and independence that the house showed, reminding me of the rugged life of the islanders.

Rocks at Lobster Cove, Monhegan Island

The splashing of the waves against the rocks at Lobster Cove is a favorite subject of mine. I love the dark forms and strong lines of the rocks against the softness of the waves

Wash Day on Monhegan Island

Seeing the wash out to dry meant it was a sunny day on the island. We had quite a few rainy wet days. It was a joy to see the wash blowing in the breeze.
